THE POSTPONEMENT OF CONGRESS.

EFFECTS OF RUNNING A GOVERNMENT WITHOUT FUNDS—THE ARMY AND NAVY TO GO WITHOUT PAY.

[Despatch to the Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Since the decision of the Cabinet yesterday, postponing the extra session of Congress until the 15th of October next, numerous difficulties have been presented. It having been understood for several weeks past that the extra session would be convened on the 4th of June, the military authorities anticipated no trouble, taking it for granted that the Army Appropriation bill would be passed by the beginning of the next fiscal year, and the business would proceed as usual, therefore no difficulties were anticipated nor mentioned. The postponement of the extra session was a great surprise to them, and nearly every bureau chief in the War Department sees some difficulty ahead, all of which they have mentioned to the Secretary of War this morning. A serious embarrassment will grow out of the fact that the retained pay cannot be disbursed to discharged soldiers. The practice of the department has been in accordance with law, to deduct a percentage of the pay of enlisted men as follows: During the first enlistment, $1 per month for the third year of such enlistment; $2 per month during the fourth year, and $3 per month during the fifth year. Soldiers reenlisting have $1 per month retained from their pay during the entire period of such reenlistment. A new soldier receives $13 per month during the first two years, $14 per month during the third year; $15 per month during the fourth year, and $16 per month during the fifth year, and it is the increased pay which is thus retained. This retained pay, which is deposited in the Treasury, cannot be given to them without an appropriation by Congress for that purpose.

Another difficulty arises in the fact that a discharged soldier is entitled to transportation from the place of his discharge to that of his original enlistment. For instance if a soldier, enlisted in New-York, happens to be stationed in Oregon at the time of the expiration of his term, he is entitled to transportation to New-York, as well as his retained pay, and any money due him for clothing not drawn, &c. Every soldier receives at the time of his discharge a statement, showing the amount of retained pay to his credit, and that for clothing not drawn, and upon presentation of this statement receives his money, if the extra session be postponed, there will be no money to pay such discharged men. Soldiers generally re-enlist after their first term, and, of course, those who have served in the Army are preferred to raw recruits. If there is no money to pay discharged men they will refuse to re-enlist, and it is feared the result will be demoralizing upon the Army.

Secretary McCrary has directed the Paymaster-General to prepare a statement showing an estimate of the number of men whose terms will expire between July 1, and October 15. He expects to have such statement prepared without delay, and will submit it to the President. The subject will again be considered by the Cabinet on Monday next, when all the new difficulties arising out of the proposed postponement will be considered. Army officers are paid monthly, and many declare that they will be considerably embarrassed by the postponement. The men and file are paid once in every two months. It has been suggested that the difficulty in regard to the pay of discharged men might be overcome by discharging 2,500 men prior to the 1st of July, whose terms of enlistment will expire between July 1 and October 15. About $600,000 will be required to pay this number of men, and upon examination, it has been found that there is not sufficient money to the credit of the Army Appropriation fund of the present fiscal year to make such payment. Therefore the idea had to be abandoned.

NO FUNDS FOR THE NAVY.

[From the N. Y. Times.]

There is a great deal of discontent and anxiety at present among the officers and sailors of our Navy, and it is probable that the efficiency of this branch of the public service will be greatly impaired thereby. For more than a month neither officers nor sailors have received any money, and under no circumstance will they be paid anything previous to the next fiscal year, which begins July 1. The appropriation made for the payment of salaries during the current fiscal year has been insufficient, and the sum—$1,000,000—set apart by the last Congress for the liquidation of deficiencies of previous years, and of such as might occur during 1876 and 1877, has been swallowed up in the settlement of old claims. When Secretary Thompson assumed charge of the Navy Department he found that there was on hand only enough money to pay all the officers and sailors up to April 10 last. After due consideration, he was of opinion that the officers and men upon foreign stations needed money more than those at home. Acting upon this belief, the Secretary divided the salary fund at his disposal and allotted it in due proportions to the cruising squadrons. The officers at home, or so many of them as were spoken to yesterday by a Times reporter, applauded this action of the Secretary, for, they said, it would have been disgraceful for our officers abroad to incur debts while they had no prospect of settling them; and, if Secretary Thompson had not cared for them as he did, they would have been forced to do so. But, while commending his action toward their colleagues, they do not feel less bitterly their own situation, and the inability of the Secretary, on the plea of lack of authority, to do aught to aid them. Their statement of their condition is as follows: For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1876, the economical Democratic Congress appropriated "for pay of the officers and men of the Navy" the sum of $5,750,000. This was $1,000,000 less than the amount required. The result is that almost everybody in the naval service is in want of money. For the officers the situation is even harder than for the men. They have to keep up "appearances," and their mess expenses, added to other necessary disbursements, leave them but little money for luxuries. Very few of them have means outside their salaries, and it is a puzzling problem to them how they are to exist for the next three months without their pay. For a fortnight they have energetically applied for aid to the Secretary of the Navy, and to the Fourth Auditor of the Treasury Department, who has charge of their accounts; but their appeals have been in vain, both officials declaring they had no authority to act in the premises. Several days ago a Wall street banker offered to advance money to the officers at a moderate rate of discount, if the Navy, or the Treasury Department would give a guarantee for the repayment of the money loaded. Neither department, however, would give such a guarantee. To make matters worse, Secretary Thompson instructed Naval Paymasters not to make advances to officers out of any funds in their possession, and the Fourth Auditor of the Treasury has announced that there is no certainty that Congress will ever appropriate a sum to make up the present deficiency in the salary fund.

MORE DETAILS OF THE HARDSHIPS ENCOUNTERED.

[Special Despatch to the Boston Globe.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7.—The postponement of the extra session of Congress until October 15 is likely to work greater difficulty than was expected, and it is not at all improbable that even yet an earlier date will be fixed. This postponement will deprive the officers and men of the naval service for an indefinite period of their pay for April, May and June, as well as all balances earned and allowed to remain in the possession of the Government previous to April 1st. The Secretary of the Navy has decided that the appropriation for pay of the navy, always heretofore considered as continuous, shall be so no longer, and that officers and men shall only be paid from the appropriation for 1877-78 for services rendered during that time. Upon the issuing of the general order announcing that this pay appropriation was exhausted, the officers of the navy consoled themselves with the thought that the 1st of July would terminate their mortifying condition by making available the money appropriated by Congress for the pay of the navy, but this decision of the Secretary takes that dependence away, and a majority having nothing are utterly at a loss where to turn. There are very few officers in the navy who will not be sorely embarrassed and distressed by this state of affairs. The regulations for the government of the navy expressly prohibit and condemn the incurring of debt without the means of payment, but the action of the Government leaves no alternative, even if Congress takes the earliest possible action in the matter. The term of service of enlisted men in the navy is three years, and those familiar with the habits and character of seamen know that, however happy and contented they may be up to the expiration of their term of enlistment, nothing is so likely to excite discontent and breaches of discipline as a failure to pay and discharge them promptly when their term of service has expired. Under the ruling of the Secretary, and in the absence of legislation, several hundred of these men, whose terms of service will expire before Congress can meet, are destitute. Officers have no money with which to proceed to obey orders, and cannot procure any, and it is understood that the orders of officers selected to attend the school of torpedo instruction at Newport will be suspended for this reason.

The Bluffdale herd of short horns [illegible] owned by Albert Crane, of Ottawa, Ill., was sold there May 8th. All the cattle raising States were represented. Geneva Rose was sold to Trimble & Henshaw, of Plattsburg, Mo., for $2425, and Grace the Third to W. L. Sliman, of Paris, Ky., for $1,500. Forty-four head of cows and heifers were sold for $20,675, and six bulls for $1,110.

THE USE OF PATRONAGE.

Occasionally we obtain interesting glimpses of the "true inwardness" of certain journals which are specially vociferous in their championship of "reform" and offensively arrogant in their assumption of superior virtue. If there is a paper in this country which has uttered more fierce denunciation of the use of patronage for any political purposes, than the New York Evening Post, we have not seen it. Its columns have teemed with high-sounding advocacy of a "civil service reform" that should take the bestowal of appointments out of politics altogether, and it has fairly gloated over any opportunity to assail the past administration or any individual member of Congress whom it could charge with regarding political considerations in the bestowal of Federal appointment. The truthfulness of this statement of its habit will be recognized by any reader of that paper.

It was rather interesting, therefore, to find that paper complacently publishing in a recent issue the somewhat remarkable letter from the Postmaster-General which we have copied elsewhere. Perhaps the reader of our words thus far jumps at the conclusion that this letter was printed by the Post as affording an extraordinary text for one of its loftiest and severest sermons upon the enormity of using patronage for political purposes—if so, the reader is entirely mistaken. It does make editorial reference to the letter, thus showing editorial familiarity with its text, but its comment is devoted to a slur at the "dissatisfied 'stalwart' Republicans of the North," and utters no word of dissent or disapproval as to the grand tactics with political patronage outlined by a leading member of the Cabinet. We have a faint suspicion that if such a letter had been made public from the pen of Postmaster-General Creswell or Secretary Robeson under the last administration it would hardly have run the gauntlet of the virtuous Post columns without a fusilade of criticism. If even Andrew Johnson's Postmaster-General had given such written assurance that if the Southern Democrats would support his "policy" so as to give him a majority in Congress "he will be able to deal his patronage to them liberally," but that if they failed to secure an Administration Speaker he would "be compelled to use his official patronage in such way as to give him strength in his own party," we imagine the Post would have failed to recognize the document as embodying its ideas of "civil service reform." But "the difference is the odds, you know," as Mrs. Partington says, and what would have been "flat burglary" on the part of a "stalwart Republican" Cabinet officer, becomes "full of piety" when it drips from the quill of an ex-Confederate Postmaster-General, and the Post hastens to prove an exception to Dogberry's rule that "the ewe that will not hear her lamb when it baas, will never answer a calf when it bleats."

We really think the Post has sacrificed a rare chance to work over some of its old editorial philippics. How sonorously it might roll out that familiar comparison of the "spoils system" with the stock exchange, pointing its moral with Mr. Key's business-like quotation "Very little is doing with regard to Southern appointments." And then what ponderous denunciation its files would afford against the intimation that a President is "feeling his way" in the appointment of Government [illegible] through fear of such radicals as Ben Wade, Wendell Phillips," and [illegible] number of [illegible] of present American citizens whom our [illegible] the Postmaster-General elegantly [illegible]teously and "conciliatingly" designates as "carpet-baggers and other [illegible] shirt Republicans." [illegible] should go back far enough in the [illegible] the Post to strike the period when [illegible]ed Republican, rather than Democratic success as a thing to be desired, we think we might find some structures that would fit the case of a member of a Republican Cabinet who should take pains to promulgate his advice that "the true method for the Democratic Party in the South to protect itself and maintain its successful organization, is for that party to declare in favor of Mr. Hayes' administration, not as Republicans, but as Democrats, upon his Southern policy." Is it not enough to make a civil service reformer's mouth water to hear this reform Cabinet Minister proclaiming that the true way to "redeem the South" is for the President to "revolutionize the system of Federal patronage that has existed since the war," by turning out the Republicans who hold office and "dealing his patronage liberally to Southern Democrats" as a reward for their support of his "policy"? Many matter-of-fact readers will think they perceive in this programme laid down by the Postmaster-General, a striking resemblance to the formula which attained considerable notoriety not long ago as the art of "putting things where they would do the most good." But such superficial likeness must be deceptive, because the Evening Post is a full-fledged "reformer," and it finds nothing to criticise in the Administrative music set in this Key.

To us the letter and its adoption by the Post are interesting as literary and political curiosities, and that paper has added to the significance of the case by also reproducing the commentary of the Memphis Bourbon organ, which shows the remarkable success that attends the "conciliation policy." We are also under obligations to the Post for using the Postmaster-General as a medium for explaining to the public just what uses of patronage for political purposes come within the scope of its ideal theories of "civil service reform."

"It would therefore be as unjust to hold the people of the South responsible for their occasional (!) scenes of violence as it would to hold the people of Pennsylvania responsible for the murders committed by the Molly Maguires," etc.—Boston Journal, May 3.

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has refused new trials in the cases of nine Molly Maguires under sentence of death.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Thus do the news columns of one doughface paper put to shame the editorial hypocrisy of another. Show us nine of the assassins of Southern loyalists under sentence of death in any or all those States, before you use that stale Democratic argument again.

We have reached a refreshing state of politics when that former leader of Ku-klux and ex-Confederate General John B. Gordon, finds occasion to contradict a current report that he had been tendered the position of Secretary of War of the United States!

THE PRESIDENT INTERVIEWED.

HIS IDEAS OF POLITICAL SURGERY.

[Special Cor. N. Y. Ev'g Post.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Mr. Cowles, the proprietor of the Cleveland (O.) Leader, had an interview with President Hayes last night, during which the political situation was freely discussed by the latter.

Mr. Cowles told the President that the dissatisfaction among the Ohio Republicans with his Southern policy is so great as to render probable the loss of that State to the Republicans next October, by Republicans refusing to vote.

The President evinced no surprise at this, but said that, although temporary defeat might be encountered at the polls, in the end the party would be stronger than ever. The politics of the country are, he said, in a diseased condition and require the severe treatment extended by surgeons to persons who have diseased limbs. The course taken by the surgeons is severe, but it is the only course left to save the life of the patients.

The President said he entertained no doubt of the success of his policy, which he thinks will destroy the color line in politics and bring the best men of both parties to the front. He said he expects the Republicans will certainly carry North Carolina and Tennessee at the next election, and that already the Democratic party in South Carolina is showing signs of breaking up. He expects that Governor Hampton will pursue such a course in South Carolina that two years hence the Republicans will be glad to nominate him as their candidate for Governor. The President said he also believed that the Republicans would carry Louisiana at the next election, and that the Democratic party in that State will not be able to hold together.

These he said will be the fruits of my Southern Policy, which just now is not acceptable to all Republicans.

[The letter of Postmaster-General Key does not fit into the President's remarks very smoothly. Mr. Key is evidently less sanguine of and less anxious for Republican victories in the South.—Ed. Whig.]

THE "KEY" TO THE SOUTHERN POLICY.

[From the N. Y. Evening Post, May 8.]

The Memphis (Tenn.) Appeal publishes the following extract from a letter from Postmaster-General Key to his brother at Chattanooga, Tennessee:

"Very little is doing with regard to Southern appointments. I presume the President is feeling his way as to these. He desires to be as liberal toward the Southern people as he dare. The President's Southern policy—his action as to South Carolina and Louisiana—has arrayed against him Blaine, Wade, Wendell Phillips, the carpet-baggers and other bloody-shirt Republicans. The Democrats have a majority in the House, and this defection may give an opposition majority in the Senate. To give the President the power to carry out his Southern policy, it is important that he have a majority in both Houses favorable to his administration. Whether he shall have this majority depends on the Southern Democrats. If they oppose the administration elect a northern Democrat, such as Randall or Sayler, to the Speakership, and ally themselves with disaffected Republicans to fight the administration, he will be compelled to use his official patronage in such way as to give him strength in his own party, whereas, should Southern Democrats wisely extend him a support, he will be able to deal his patronage to them liberally, and revolutionize the system of Federal patronage which has existed in the South since the war. Southern Democrats now have the power to redeem the South if they see proper to use it. The President is firm and determined in his Southern policy, if the South will give him the support necessary to carry it out. In my opinion the true method for the Democratic party in the South to protect itself, and maintain its successful organization, is for that party to declare in favor of Mr. Hayes' administration, not as Republicans, but as Democrats, upon his Southern policy. If the President's Southern policy fails, the Southern Democratic party will be to blame for it, the people well know it, and hold it responsible."

The Appeal, a Democratic journal, thus refers to the writer of this:

"David M. Key, Postmaster-General, is one of this class of political prostitutes, and in a few weeks the people of Tennessee will unite with the Appeal in the opinion that among the wrecks that lie along the political shore, tossed there by the storms of the past four moths, there is none so sordid as the creature which crawled into a Republican Cabinet as a revenge on the Democrats of the Tennessee Legislature for repudiating him as an unworthy candidate for United States Senator."

The Boston Journal, which rarely allows a day to pass without some quotation from our columns or some indirect reference to us, has conceived it to be very crushing to omit the paper's name and to designate us as "those journals which" or "a journal that," etc. Its latest device is to speak of us as "quasi-Republican," which coming from that source is what Artemas Ward would call "amoosin'." The Republicanism of this section has never needed the sort of stimulus to be obtained from Boston, and the real secret of our offence in the eyes of the Journal is our persistence in showing up its own recantation of the Republican doctrines it has heretofore advocated, and the flunkeyism which has turned its whole staff into eager but bungling plagiarists of the Democratic journalism of the last decade.

ASTONISHING THE CHIVALRY.—Dr. H. V. Redfield, the leading correspondent of The Cincinnati Commercial, is a teetotaler. He says that during his travels in the South he is invited at least 150 times a year to "take a drink." He always firmly but politely, begs to be excused, giving as his reason that he never indulges in spirituous or malt liquors, and he describes in a very amusing manner the effect of this announcement upon the average Southern gentleman. First, he looks at the correspondent's feet, then slowly raises his eyes, taking in by degrees his whole person until he reaches the top of his head. Then his eyes are slowly depressed until they again rest upon the ground, when he steps back one or two paces, puts his hands on his hips, and after a moment's pause, says with a tone of great astonishment, "Well, I'll be damned!"

THE KING STATUE.—Mr. Franklin Simmons' statute of Gov. King of Maine is nearly completed. This figure upon which he is at work is the second of the same subject, the first having been nearly finished in marble and accepted by the State, when he conceived the idea of an improvement in the action of the figure. The work was immediately stopped, and the sculptor commenced the entire design anew, thus deliberately throwing away the labor of many months, and thousands of dollars in material, in the earnest desire to reach a more perfect result.

How hard it is for the professional reform and ex-Republican organs to tell the whole truth. They are very free to denounce the free trade writer, J. S. Moore, for holding a fat sinecure in the New York custom house, but they carefully omit another important fact, namely, that reformer Bristow generously nursed Moore on government fodder, and in return Moore was one of the highest toned "Bristow and reform" shouters a year ago. Let us have the facts, if they do strip the mask off some of the whitewashed and tinselled idols.—Boston Traveler.

"Conciliation" is a very good thing, but has the time quite come when it is necessary that ex-Union soldiers should inscribe upon a medal to be given to an ex-Confederate, "God knows who was right"?—N. Y. Times. [illegible]

Representative Ellis, of Louisiana, voices the average Southern Bourbon's feelings concerning Hayes' concessions, when in reply to a question as to whether the South would not support Hayes in consideration of these concessions, he said: "We may sleep with Mr. Hayes, but we shall never marry him!" In other words, the Southern Democracy will take all they can get, but won't yield an inch in return.—Concord Monitor.

On what tangible ground can the pretense be urged that a "solid South," linked to the Democracy in all possible ways, will acquire the prosperity which is talked of as one of the rewards of the policy of reconciliation? The peace which rests upon proscription is the peace of slavery. The partisan supremacy which is obtained and perpetuated at the cost of all that dignifies citizenship and ennobles labor and enterprise is not entitled to the admiration of freer and happier States.—N. Y. Times.

Edwin Cowles, proprietor of the Cleveland Leader, had a long interview with the President to-day, and said that the Western Reserve opposes his Southern policy.—Special to Boston Journal.

And now we suppose the Journal will proceed to "read" the grand old Western Reserve of Ohio "out of the Republican party."

The Opening of The Second Exhibition.

Ceremonies were brought to a close at 12 o'clock with a benediction by Bishop Simpson. Gen. Grant was present under the escort of Mayor Stokey and the committee of the city Council, everything passed off successfully.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. The streets are crowded. The prominent buildings and nearly all the private dwellings in town are covered with bunting. At 10 o'clock President Hayes with his Cabinet breakfasted with Col. McMichael. About noon o'clock the President and party took carriages to the Exhibition grounds, escorted by the city troops. The City Council committee having in charge the arrangements for Gen. Grant's reception, accompanied him to the Union League House where Gov. Hartranft and other officials were gathered, and from there the party started for the Exhibition grounds.

The Presidential party arrived at the central entrance of the Exhibition building at 12.15, and were at once escorted to the platform where the ceremonies of the day begun according to programme. People had been gathering in large numbers in and around the Exhibition building since 11 o'clock, and all available space within sight of the platform was packed. It is estimated that fully 50,000 people were in the structure.

The overthrow of the lawful State Government was appropriately celebrated to-day. Detachments of the Army and Navy of the United States participated with the White League of Alabama and Louisiana in this celebration of Democratic success. Did poetic justice require that the honors of this achievement should be thus equally divided? In the absence of the commissioner the Gray [illegible] occupied the post of honor to the 'Blue' and asked no apology. The Custom House and Post-office were closed in admiration of the event. GREAT BRITAIN

The Council Divided on the Eastern Question

LIVERPOOL, May 10. The Post's London correspondent says that when Cross [illegible] Monday [illegible] of the Cabinet he was indulging in flight of imagination. The truth is a nominal unity was only restored Saturday. This result was obtained after an angry discussion in the Cabinet by the threatened resignation of four of its members. Earl Beaconsfield was in favor of a violent and sensational policy. The British fleet had been ordered to rendezvous at Corfu with sealed instructions to sail for the Bosphorus and there was every probability that an armed demonstration in favor of the Turks would be made. Gladstone's resolutions, or rather the expression of public feeling they provoked, put matters in an entirely different position, and when the Cabinet met Saturday several members declared that they would not at present sanction an armed demonstration on the Bosphorous.

The four members to whom the country owe the final decision of the Government in favor of neutrality are Lord Salisbury, Sir Stafford Northcote, Lord Carnarvon and Mr Cross. They declared they would not support a war like policy and as their retirement would break up the Government the Prime Minister and his warlike colleagues were compelled to submit, thus a sort of unity has been patched up for the present and the Government in the meantime is committed to a policy of neutrality, it should not however be forgotten that this policy is provisional and that the whole Cabinet recognize that intervention may be necessary.

During the debate Mr Courtney, (Advanced Liberal) member for Liskeard advocated the dismemberment of Turkey by force of arms and an alliance with Russia for this purpose. [illegible] and the liberals cheered.

Saturday morning at ten o'clock Edward Leavitt will sell at public auction a large variety of furniture, crockery and glass ware, parlor and cook stoves and a lot of flower pots.

We print some Washington despatches on our first page to-day, which indicate some of the embarrassing effects of delaying the call of Congress to provide funds for the public service.

On our fourth page we copy from the N. Y. Journal of Commerce a graceful and [illegible] poem by Miss Augusta Moore, composed at the home of Mrs. [illegible] Mann on the banks of the Penobscot.

Messrs Lowney & Baker, merchant tailors advertise that they have a large assortment of new spring goods and clothing that they offer to the public at prices in accordance with their motto—"Low prices and best work."

Mr. Henry Jones, of the Senior class at the Seminary, will be stationed at Ashland Aroostook county for three months during the summer. Mr Jones has been supplying the Mission church at Waterville during the winter months.

Yesterday while the Bangor and Piscataquis train was waiting at Blanchard Messrs Sam'l Crocker the baggage master and Percy Fellows fireman visited Gulch Brook, and in about two hours caught a nice lot of splendid trout.

Queen City Grange, of this city, are making arrangements for an entertainment to be given Thursday, May 31st, and have engaged the City Hall for that purpose. Their brethren in this vicinity will be invited. The money taken will be used for charitable purposes.

Mr Hugh Jameson, while feeding a cutting machine in Files & Jones bakery, yesterday afternoon caught his thumb in the machinery, cutting it nearly off at the first joint and otherwise injuring his hand. A physician was called and dressed the wound, and has great hopes of being able to save the thumb.

We learn that the Rt. Rev. Dr. Conroy, Bishop of Ardagh in Ireland, and Apostolic Delegate to Canada and the British Provinces is in this city, the guest of Rev Father Murphy. He is on his way to Halifax to consecrate the Archbishop elect of that city. He is announced to preach at St Mary's church next Sunday. The prelate is one of the most distinguished of the Episcopate of Ireland.

WEEKLY COURIER. This excellent family paper issued to-day, contains a great variety of interesting news. Several letters will be found in its columns upon various subjects and editorials dealing with matters of importance, besides a large amount of State, foreign, domestic and local news. Those interested in agricultural subjects, will find several articles worthy of perusal. A report of the Bucksport murder case will be found on the supplement. Copies can be obtained at this office to-day.

NOON MEETINGS.—In accordance with frequent suggestions and requests from business men and others who are unable to attend in the morning, the weekly union temperance prayermeeting will be held to-day at the noon hour, from 12 to 1, in the Columbia st. church, instead of from 8 to 9 A. M., as heretofore. The noon meetings in many cities are among the most thronged of the week, and it is believed that this change of time will be generally acceptable. The meeting is open to all.

THE NEW TELEGRAPH LINE. We learn that the proposed construction of 10,000 miles of new wire by the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Co., embraces an extension of the line from Portland to this city. The line extends to the Pacific coast and its Eastern terminus was located in Portland in October. The Atlantic & Pacific is the only important competitor of the Western Union Co., and it claims to have effected very large reductions in the tariff. Considerable interest has been manifested in the extension of the line in this State and we understand that the work is to be vigorously pushed toward this city.

LIVELY RUNAWAY. Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock, quite an excitement was caused by a runaway horse. The horse had been left fastened in front of a house on Fourth street, by two young ladies, and after standing for some time he became restless, and soon succeeded in getting clear. He then ran out on to Hammond street and came down over the hill and across the bridge, turning down Exchange street. In turning the corner he struck another team, but did not do any damage. The horse kept on down the street, as far as the E. & N. A. depot where he turned up on the railroad track, running some distance on the sleepers before he was captured. The team was not injured in the least.

MAINE STATE SABBATH SCHOOL ASSOCIATION. THE TWO ORPHANS. This very [illegible] drama which abounds in startling and pathetic scenes, was produced in this city for the first time last evening by the Metropolitan Theatre Company. Mr John Murray who is a first class and well-known actor in the city, appeared as Pierre the cripple, and gave the character [illegible] as he [illegible] of his rendition with the [illegible] effect. The leading lady Miss Grace Cartland, played Louise finely, in some situations she was lacking in the portrayal of emotion. In others he was equal to the requirement. Miss Jane Parker gave La Frochard well. Mr [illegible] Jacques and Mr Harrison's [illegible] were the very best of Mr. Murray's support. The scenery used was especially good, each piece being specially painted for the play, and the management is worthy of compliment for bringing that which is not only applicable to the drama, but which is at once good and not defaced by long continued use. This evening Mr Murray will appear in Rip Van Winkle a character which he has played for many years with great success. He will no doubt have a good house as he deserves.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT. At the annual meeting of the Bangor Gas Light Company the following resolutions of respect on the death of the late William H. Perry, Esq. were passed:

Whereas, The stockholders of this corporation have learned of the death of Mr. William H. Perry, Superintendent of its works, and whereas the record of a meeting of the Directors of the corporation, held December 27th, 1852, show that at that early day in the history of this corporation William H. THE BUCKSPORT MURDER

The Prisoner's Testimony.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE WHIG AND COURIER.]

ELLSWORTH, May 9, 1877.

STATE VS. SMITH.

At 10 30 A. M. Edward M. Smith, prisoner at the bar, takes the stand, eyed by upwards of eight hundred. He testifies as follows:

I live on Elm St. in village of Bucksport. I am about thirty-six (36) years of age, was for a short time a school master, have been master of a vessel; in Oct. of '76 lived on Elm St. in Bucksport, I remember perfectly well of burning of the buildings, Monday forenoon of that week was at house, in the afternoon went out to my father's and brother's; went there gunning, didn't take my gun with me as it was out there, going out I met Mr. Turner with a load of dressing, between Bucksport and my father's, was overtaken by Mr. Page in the Hewey settlement, had been out there gunning before this time, went Monday afternoon with Charles Coombs, stopped with father that night. Tuesday I went a gunning with my brother and shot a squirrel, that night I stopped at his house, Wednesday morning I started again gunning, but gave that up and helped Mr. Snow that forenoon move a building with brother, Wednesday afternoon I started again across the pasture with gun, saw John Eldridge riding out that afternoon, as I came into road he took me in and carried me a piece. I went to his residence, then up to his new house with him. I shot a rabbit that day, I was tired, carried him by my side, the breath between my arm and side. Having my hand in my pockets, carried him thus on both sides. That night (Wednesday) I stopped at house of Mr. Trim's, next morning I assisted him in loading some shingle stuff onto a cart, that (Thursday) I started for Mrs. Andrew Harriman's about 11 A. M.; Thursday afternoon I made some shelves for Mrs. Harriman to set milk on, stopped there that night. In morning I assisted Mr. Harriman in loading a load of straw onto his rack, he pitched it on and I made the load, while George Frank Saunder and another gentleman came near. They had a hound, said he (Frank) was going fox hunting. After getting straw ready Mr. Harriman went to the village with it. I stayed that day and painted a floor, also made a shelf for plants and put it on brackets, got through work about dark. I stayed until after supper, Ada Snow was going to Sewall Phillips that night before supper but I told her if she would remain until after ten I would go with her, she consequently did and we started off together after ten, having gone a piece we met Mrs. Thayer a short distance this side of Robert Irish's, we then turned and us three came back to Mrs. Harriman's, they remained about five minutes and then started to go off, I stayed and lighted my pipe, then went out back of the barn and [illegible], I then crossed the pasture and came out at Clay's house, reached my father's place between 7:30 P. M. and 8 P. M., saw a light in Howard's (brother's) part of house, but none in father's, when just below George Harriman's I heard the nine o'clock bell ring, when I arrived home went in back way, came up the cellar stairs into the hall, found the sitting room door locked, found the key and unlocking the door I entered, I then got a lamp and struck a match, was tired, and to rest myself I laid down on the lounge, after a short time the oil all burned out of lamp. When I got ready to go to bed I took my lamp, and knowing where the oil was kept I filled it, locked the sitting room door and went up stairs, called my wife, she opened the door. I found my sister and the little girl with her, my sister got up and went to bed, after I had laid there a short time I heard the town clock strike 11 P. M. Saturday morning I got up at ten minutes before six, went down cellar, got some kindle wood and built a fire, putting out I forced the outside door open. After breakfast I went to Mr. Emery's (store) to see if he wanted me to work for him that day. I saw Lawson Robert standing at the end of the store [illegible] I helped move the mortar tubs then or after that, George Eldridge came in and told me about 5 A. M. of the [illegible] I then passed out on the street to learn the particulars. Saw Mr. Emerton from East Bucksport. I stopped him to learn the news. A great crowd gathered around him. Said Mrs. Thayer was murdered, had her throat cut, Trim and Josie were murdered and the buildings were burned down. I then turned back to tell my wife, met Mr. Webster as I was going home, referred him to place to learn particulars. I understood that Homer who lives near Tillock stable had been to the fire, I then went to see him about it. Mr. Dorr had been to my house during my absence therefrom. I met him near Bradley's block. There was some talk made between Dr. Nevens and myself relative to the courage one must possess to commit such a crime, then Dorr came up and I asked him a few questions. I stayed at home during the day, cut some wood and chored around the house. That evening Walker, Weymouth, Patterson, Turner and Devereux came to my house, Devereux stepped into front entry and said Smith we want you, said I, all right, Walker, Weymouth, Patterson and Turner wanted me alone, I then stepped through into the kitchen with them, Walker then thrust his hand into my vest pocket, I moved my hands that he might have free access, he then examined my pants, found a spot of iron rust on the right leg of my pants near the seam, asked me what it was and I told him, he then found a spot on the other leg, asked me what it was, and I told him I did not know, he said in a loud voice it is blood, they asked for the coat I had on the day before and I got it, they examined the shirt I had on and asked me many questions about it, did not know I was arrested until I got out doors, when I heard them talking about taking me to the watch house, told them I did not want to go to jail, so they took me to a room in the hotel, I remained in the room that night, slept opposite the room of Sheriff Devereux, he told me if I wanted anything during the night to speak to him; I then got up in the night and asked the Sheriff to loose my cuffs some, which he did, as they had swollen my wrists, in the morning the officer put on me a shirt, or exchanged rather for one I had on, in about ten days I had a trial; did not obtain counsel until one day previous to trial, told them I had as leave go before a coroner's jury as not; I was sworn and answered many questions; was carried to Ellsworth the 27th of December; from thence I was taken to Bangor, my coat was colored after I found I was not going to work for Mr. Emery on Saturday; I had had it three or four years; often wore it when necessary; it was quite a heavy coat; had spoken of having it colored previous, the dye had been in the house for a long time, had worn it three times gunning. (Shirt was shown him.) That was taken off by officer, he said; that is the shirt I had on when arrested and put on Monday before. While making a book shelf at one time, I planed the end of my thumb off; possibly got blood on my knife then; examined the rabbit I shot.

Cross-examination by State—Was born in Bucksport; have been married eleven years; am now thirty-six years of age; followed sea before the mast at the time of my marriage, never was intimately acquainted with Mrs. Thayer, when I was a boy I knew there was a man in the neighborhood by the name of Trim, knew one of his boys, knew Mrs. Thayer to speak to her by last July, she had been living at her father's a day or two before I left, while living at Andrew Harriman's I went to Trim's occasionally while she was there, moved to village in August, from June to October I worked for Harriman & Emery, had no steady employment, was out to father's more or less after I moved to village, sometimes would go and return on same day, at other times would stay two or three nights, am unable to say I have never had any children, have never seen any of mine, Monday went gunning, gun was at brother David's, expected to go gunning with Howard or David, went for recreation.

Samuel R. Eldridge testified: Knew Smith, and one year ago last fall at my house he was going to have his coat colored with a brush.

Maria D. Moulton testified: I am acquainted with Mrs. Smith, in July after he returned in June from the South, said she was intending to color the coat, she asked me how to do it.

The State recalled a number of officers in rebuttal of the testimony offered by Mrs. Lizzie Harriman a witness for defendant. They testify that he declared the shirt taken to her house on Sunday, not the one Edward M. Smith had on when working for her on Friday. She testified before the inquest that it was a darker shirt.

Mrs. Charles Harriman recalled. There were no ladies at my house on Friday night excepting Miss Snow and Mrs. Thayer.

Smith's both direct and cross-examination tells materially the same story he did before the inquest at Bucksport. He has a number of relatives to corroborate him in his statements as to where he was during the former part of the week, but Friday [illegible] has not clearly been [illegible] for by him, [illegible] coloring of the coat [illegible] early Saturday morning and [illegible] are two features in the case throwing great suspicion upon him. It is feared that he may not be committed for want of evidence, but it is generally thought he is guilty of the crime.

There is great interest being taken [illegible] the trial; the hall is crowded. The evidence will be closed Thursday noon.

THURSDAY MORNING

The State recalls witnesses to rebut the former testimony. Dr. Treadwell says: I have been informed of the testimony of Dr. Harriman, do not wish to qualify my testimony in the least, the [illegible] do not correspond with my knowledge of blood in its normal condition, [illegible] wholly [illegible] the theory of Dr. Harriman that dried blood cannot be restored to apparently its normal condition, also [illegible] Dr. Harriman says [illegible] are not distinguishable from [illegible] there was no rabbit blood on the coat when I examined it. Drs. Hayes and Chase both corroborated Dr. Treadwell in his views of Dr. Harriman and Babcock's theory.

Dr. Babcock, expert, for defence: I do not wish to change my testimony but would like to make further explanations in regard to what I have said, did not as a witness for defence change his testimony.

Dr. Harriman says: Do not wish to change my testimony, [illegible]

There was expert testimony offered on both sides.

Mr. Cross recalled: The distance from Andrew [illegible] to Thomas Clay's, then [illegible] to Edward M. Smith's father's house, then into Bucksport village, the road that Smith took that Friday night was seven and one half miles, the distance across the pasture to Thomas Clay's house was four hundred and twenty rods. The way was blocked with much underbrush, stumps, etc., quite boggy in many places. Friday evening I remember was a very dark night.

Mr. [illegible] testified: I assisted Mr. Cross in making the measurement, found it very rough [illegible] paths extending the way we went, waded, I think, half a dozen fences, one or two quite wet places.

[illegible] H.

From East Corinth

Mr. Editor:—The East Corinth Academy [illegible] one of the most successful terms for many years on Friday evening last. The closing exercises consisted of the following:

Song, "Hark the Lark," by six of the students, led by Mr. McKinney who has instructed the school in singing once a week through the term.

Declamation, "Pericles to the people," Mr. J. B. Cole.

Reading, "Pyramus and Thisbe," Miss [illegible] Elder.

Declamation, "Gravy ott," Mr. [illegible] Wilder.

Declamation, "Crusader [illegible]," Mr. A. M. Foss.

Reading, "Betsey and I are Out," Miss Louise Chapman.

Reading, "Sequel to Betsey and I are Out," Miss H. A. Barker.

Song, "The Bright Side," solo, Miss Minnie Chapman.

Declamation, "Artemus Ward Crossing Dixie's Line," Master F. G. B[illegible]

Reading, "I've been Thinking," Miss M. [illegible]

Reading, "Our Minister's Sermon," Miss Nettie [illegible] Elden.

Declamation, "Faith Hope and Charity," Mr. C. S. Gilman.

Declamation, "Regulus to the Carthagenians," C. D. Edmunds.

Reading, "Our Nellie," Miss Ida K. Copp.

Declamation, "Socrates' Snooks," Master F. G. Badge.

Song, "Home by the Sea."

Declamation, "Spartacus to the Roman Envoys," Mr. W. W. Goodwin.

Declamation, "Advice to a Fire Company," Mr. F. R. Coy.

Declamation, "The Old Sergeant," Mr. C. H. Chapman.

Reading, "Order for a Picture," Miss Minnie F. Chapman.

Declamation, "Oration on the Crisis," Master F. H. Edmunds.

Song, "Let us Gather Bright Flowers," Misses Chapman and Campbell.

All acquitted themselves with credit. The declamations by C. D. Edmunds, Goodwin and Cole deserve special mention. Our Academy, under the instruction of Mr. Fletcher, is regaining its former standard. It will send out this summer a large number of teachers for our district schools. The largest number of scholars in attendance the past term were 65, requiring two assistants—Miss C. M. True and Mr. Edward Pitts—both faithful and accomplished teachers. Mr. Fletcher is a very thorough teacher and an instructor in good morals as well as books. He has been engaged for a term of years, and the prosperity of the school proves the wise policy of keeping a teacher when you get a good one. Quite an extensive library of choice books is connected with the school, that the students have access to free of charge.

Our village being a quiet and orderly one, offers every inducement to those wishing to acquire a good education.

Our May weather that we had in April has lately changed to April weather. However, the farmers are busy at work hoping for warmer days ahead, while the housekeepers declare it is a nice time to air carpets and clean house.

Our cheese factory will commence operations again the 15th of this month, under the charge of Mr George H. Young and such assistance as he may require.

THE HOME OF SINGING BIRDS.

We have received the following poem from Miss Augusta Moore, who is just now on a visit to her friend, so well known by the readers of this paper, Mrs. Frances L. Mace of Bangor, author of Israfil, in the last Harper. The whole poem is full of the spirit of the happy vernal season, which these children of song are enjoying together. The concluding line alludes to a beautiful composition just published by the fair owner of the rock-built home.

House of the Poems.

BY AUGUSTA MOORE.

This is the house where poets dwell,
A mansion high and broad and strong,
Built on the rock, where green banks swell
And old Penobscot rolls along.

This hard and stony outer wall
Protect and hide the inner home,
Where cheerfully the sunlight falls,
Where shining ones, with singing, come.

Up from the river's sounding foam,
Out from the shadowy mountain's mist,
Down from the azure sky they come
To keep with those in this their tryst.

High in the tower of glass, alone,
Among the birds and near the sky,
I sit and listen to the tone
Of Nature's morning melody.

The voice of flood and field and wood,
Of wave and sky makes music sweet,
I gaze on mountain, meadow and flood—
The foaming river 'neath my feet.

Still shines on high the morning star,
Beaming upon enchanted eyes,
And still the moonlight on the wave
In mystery of beauty lies.

The creeping grass to deck the earth
Is marshalling its verdant spears,
And tender violets spring to birth
In sheltered nooks beside the [illegible]

The bird in air, singing to the leaves,
And soon the ardent sun will call,
"Come forth and, and while Nature weaves
Her magic royal robe [illegible]"

High in the tower of glass, alone,
All cares and sorrows snugly furled,
Hushed by the river's drum tone
I sit, and [illegible]

And oft the [illegible] med [illegible] hard,
Noisy with [illegible] and [illegible] and groans
Hal [illegible] iron horse! the train that jarred

VEGETINE.

HER OWN WORDS.

BALTIMORE, MD., Feb. 13, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS.

Dear Sir,—Since several years I have got a sore and very painful foot. I had some physicians, but they couldn't cure me. Now I have heard of your Vegetine from a lady who was sick for a long time and became all well from your Vegetine, and I went and bought me one bottle of Vegetine; and after I had used one bottle, the pains left me, and it began to heal, and then I bought one other bottle, and so I take it yet. I thank God for this remedy and yourself; and wishing every sufferer may pay attention to it. It is a blessing for health.

MRS. C. KRABE, 638 West Baltimore Street.

Vegetine

SAFE AND SURE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

In 1872 your Vegetine was recommended to me, and, yielding to the persuasions of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose, and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling. Since then I have not hesitated to give Vegetine my most unqualified indorsement, as being a safe, sure, and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use, and as long as I live I never expect to find a better.

Yours truly,
W. H. CLARK,
120 Monterey Street, Allegheny, Penn.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

CHARLESTOWN, Mass., March 19, 1876.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS: Dear Sir,—This is to certify that I have used your "Blood Preparation" in my family for several years, and think that, for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors, or Rheumatic Affections, it cannot be excelled; and, as a blood purifier and spring medicine, it is the best thing I have ever used, and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine. Yours respectfully,

MRS. A. A. DINSMORE, [illegible]

Vegetine

WHAT IS NEEDED.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

Dear Sir,—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. Vegetine was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and, after using several bottles, was restored to health and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.

Respectfully yours,
U. L. PETTENGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettengill & Co.,
No. 10 State St., Boston.

ALL HAVE OBTAINED RELIEF.

SOUTH BERWICK, Me., Jan. 17, 1872.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

Dear Sir,—I have had dyspepsia in its worst form for the last ten years, and have taken hundreds of dollars' worth of medicines without obtaining any relief. In September last I commenced taking the Vegetine, since which time my health has steadily improved. My food digests well, and I have gained fifteen pounds of flesh. There are several others in this place taking Vegetine, and all have obtained relief.

Yours truly,
THOMAS E. MOORE,
Overseer of Card Room, Portsmouth Co.'s Mills.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery, can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes after and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8 to 9½ A. M., and from 5 to 6 P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request for return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus enclosed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

Post office envelopes of above furnished at $[illegible] per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

All Letters must be Prepaid.—Letters for the mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate. City letters, two cents half ounce or single rate.

NEWSPAPERS.

After January 1st, 1875, all regular newspapers must be prepaid at the office of publication, at the rate of two cents per pound for each issue on weekly papers or those published oftener than once a week, less frequently than once a week, three cents. The same law applies to dealers.

County papers free, except to letter carrier offices, on papers coming to this office, if published in County, are subject to postage. Daily papers published in County, if delivered by carrier, one cent each; to be prepaid by stamps.

Postage to Canada.—Same as in the States on letters and papers, pre-payment compulsory, merchandise limited to 8 oz., postage 10 cents.

TRANSIENT PRINTED MATTER, AND BOOKS AND MERCHANDISE.

Transient newspapers and magazines, regular publications designed primarily for advertising purposes, or for free circulation at nominal rates, and all printed matter of the third class except unsealed circulars, shall be admitted to, and be transmitted in, the mails at the rate of one cent for every two ounces or fractional part thereof, and one cent for each two additional ounces or fractional part thereof, and the sender of any article of the third class of mail matter may write his or her name or address thereon, or on the outside thereof, with the word "from" above or preceding the same, or may write briefly or print on any package the number and names of the articles enclosed. Publishers of newspapers and periodicals may print on the wrappers of newspapers or magazines sent from the office of publication to regular subscribers the date to which subscription therefor has been paid, and addresses upon postal cards and unsealed circulars may be either written, printed, or affixed thereto, at the option of the sender.

On unsealed circulars, merchandise and all [illegible] matter of the third class other than that designated in the aforegoing section, postage will be charged as heretofore, one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

Letters remaining in the office are advertised [illegible] of each week. If not claimed in one month thereafter, they are then forwarded to Washington.

MONEY ORDERS.

[illegible] attention is called to the Money Order [illegible] safe and cheap method of transmitting [illegible] through the mails. Orders are issued [illegible] of not more than fifty dollars. Larger [illegible] can be transmitted to the same person, at one time, by additional orders.

In the matter of ALONZO J. HARRIMAN, Bankrupt,

IN BANKRUPTCY.

This is to give notice that a petition has been presented to the Court, this 23d day of April, 1877, by Alonzo J. Harriman, of Belfast, a Bankrupt, individually and as a member of the firm of A. J. Harriman & Company, praying that he may be decreed to have a full discharge from all his debts, individual and copartnership, provable under the Bankrupt Act, and upon reading said Petition,

It is ordered by the Court that a hearing be had upon the same, on the first Monday of July, A. D. 1877, before the Court in Portland, in said District, at 10 o'clock A. M., and that notice thereof be published in the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier and the Republican Journal, newspapers printed in said District, once a week for three successive weeks, and once in the weekly Bangor Courier, the last publication to be thirty days at least before the day of hearing, and that all creditors who have proved their debts and other persons in interest, may appear at said time and place, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

WM. P. PREBLE,
Clerk of District Court, for said District.
